We call the attention of the reade. s of the Journal to a letter of Col. Whittlesey, to , Tudge Buxton, which we copy from the Progress:

Judge Buxton, being about to open the courts in his district, addressed a letter to Col. Whittlesey, chief of the freedmen's bureau for this State, be with out one cent to pay those creditors whose propounding certain questions relative to jurisdiction in cases where freedmen are concerned. The following is Col. Whittlesey's answer, which he has kindly permitted us to publish for the information of the public:

BUREAU OF R. F. & A. L., Raleigh, February 13, 1866.

R. P. Buxton, Esq., Sir: Your favor of the 10th is just received. In the matters referred to it will not be difficult to avoid conflict of jurisdiction. The principles by which military authorities are governed are these: 1st. In case of breach of criminal law by freedmen, no objection will be made to trial by civil courts, (colored testimony being by law admitted,) provided that the sentence against whites and blacks, when convicted, be necessarily the same.

2d. In cases where whites are accused of offences against colored people, (colored testimony not being admitted,) the military authorities claim jurisdiction. Should the bill now before the legislature be passed, these cases will be transferred to the civil courts, also, on the same conditions as the first. It is my earnest desire to see this effected at an early day. Then the most objectionable feature of the freedman's bureau will be removed. The aim of the government is simply to secure justice to all without distinction of race or Sales will be made, and ere two years clapse the off. The General then rising from his seat, and

BY E. B. HALE

Where are they with whom I started Traveling o'er life's joyful way; Years have vanish'd since we parted I am here, but where are they? O the hours that blissful blest us, O the friends that once caress'd us-Bosom friends that fondly press'd us-

Where are they? As the early crystal dawning, Heralds in a glorious day; So was life's enraptured morning. Bright with Hope's delusive ray; Scenes of Heav'nly brightness seeming,— Scenes with fadeless lustre gleaming, Lit with smiles of Beauty beaming-Where are they?

As the stars in clustering bands, Sweetly smilling, smoothly roll So with clasped hearts and hands, Full of bliss we sought the goal : Pleasure's radiant sky was o'er us, Hope on gilded pinions bere us, Love in angel guise before us, Woo'd the soul.

Joyful ever-ever sings : As the crystall'd evening sky Gems of beauty ever brings : So the years in bright appearing, Ever glowing-ever cheering, Wrapt our souls in love endearing, Like the Spring. They have gone whose hearts were lightest?

As the streamlet dancing by,

They to whom I fondly clung; They whose buoyant hopes were brightest, They who sweetest smil'd and sung; Fairy forms in grace array'd, Cheeks, where beauty blushing play'd Eves, where love his conquests made, Hearts among. Why, ah! why, this mournful feeling,

Why should tears embittering flow? Years in silent swiftne-s stealing, Meet where flow'rs of glory grow? There, I'll meet the buoyant hearted, Those, with whom in life I started-Those, from whom I weeping parted, PUTNAM, OHIO.

At the recent ball at the Tuileries, the three Graces, not only as to beauty, but also as to dress, were decidedly the Empress of the French, the Princess Hohenzollern, and the Princess Metternich. Her Majesty wore a dress of white talle, terfly in diamonds, in the centre of Her Majesty's diadem, and two similarly brilliant butterflies for the breast and the waistband buckle. The Princess Hohenzollern displayed a robe of blue tulle, trimmed with English point lace; and the Princess Metternich's dress was in black tulle, enli-

J. D. SOUTHERLAND, Clerk. 2-w6t. FOR SALE.

OFFER FOR SALE A VALUABLE TRACT OF LAND in the county of Wilson, on the waters of Black creek, twelve miles from the county site, (Wilson,) and four miles from Black Creek Station, Wilmington & Weldon railroad containing about 800 acres, heavily timbered with oak and long leaf pine. There is enough cleared land for a six Russell & Ellis. horse farm, with as good facilities for improving the farm as any in that section of country, there being a great quantity of marl convenient to the farm, with about 200 acres of ridge land to clear, which would produce corn, peas, cotton and potatoes, finely. There is eight thousand turpentine boxes, from 8 to 10 feeet high, seven thousand eighteen inches high, and in a good neighborhood for a turpentine still, or store. Also, upon the premises, one of the best mill sites in the eastern part of the state, on the run of Black creek, sufficient to run two corn, one wheat and saw mill, where-it is said, by the old men of the neighborhood-there has been a mill for fifty years or more, till during the war it was burnt. The improvements are ordinary; three or four plank houses, with brick chimneys, at different places on the farm; and other houses sufficient for 18 or 20 hands. It is a rare chance for an investment. If any person should wish to view the premises, please call on Mr. Silas Lucas, who will take pleasure in snowing them over the lands. Terms made easy. For further particulars, address the subscriber, box 139 Wilmington, N. C. ROBERT M. COX. 2-wim
